

Subject: Invitation to the Forum on Biodiversity and Energy Revolution

7th Nov. 2022

Dear Sir or Madam,

We would like to extend our gratitude for your support to the Global Energy Interconnection (GEI) initiative.

Since its inception in March 2016, Global Energy Interconnection Development and Cooperation Organization (GEIDCO) has been actively building an international platform of extensive consultation, joint contribution, shared benefits and win-win results. With great efforts in concept promotion, planning and research, international cooperation, and project implementation, we have transformed GEI from a proposal to actions, and from concept to practice, as the vanguard of energy transition and sustainable development. GEIDCO is taking on a weightier role in promoting international energy cooperation, and green and low-carbon development.

To align with the United Nations Biodiversity Conference (COP15) to be held in Montreal, Canada, this December, GEIDCO plans to hold an on-site Forum on Biodiversity and Energy Revolution during the COP15 from 13:15 to 14:45 on Dec. 16th and launch the book on Biodiversity and Revolution of Energy and Electric Power. It gives us great honor to invite you to the on-site event.

For a long time, GEIDCO and its partners have forged strong partnership, underpinned by our shared commitment to advancing green, low-carbon and sustainable development around the world. Both sides have carried out concrete cooperation in concept dissemination, joint research, and co-organized events and conferences, with many fruitful results. Despite the onslaught of COVID pandemic in the past three years, GEIDCO has worked closely with the partners in various fields to actively promote biodiversity protection, tackle climate change and accelerate the transition to clean and low-carbon energy.

Looking ahead, GEIDCO stands ready to further strengthen communication and deepen cooperation between us to jointly advance the UN Sustainable Development Goals and contribute to a green, sustainable and harmonious world where man and Nature can both thrive and prosper.

Thanks again for your valuable support to Global Energy Interconnection initiative and the work of GEIDCO. Looking forward to your reply soon.

Yours truly,
Global Energy Interconnection
Development and Cooperation Organization(GEIDCO)
